Access to Online Education and Training for Jobs and Careers

Accès à l'éducation et à la formation en ligne pour les emplois et les carrières

Contact North | Contact Nord helps Ontarians, especially those in small, rural, northern, and remote areas, access the online education and training they need to get or retain a job, earn a promotion, or advance their career without having to leave their communities.

JoVE is the world-leading producer and provider of science videos with the mission to improve scientific research and education. Millions of scientists, educators and students at thousands of universities, colleges, hospitals and biopharmaceutical companies worldwide use JoVE for their research, teaching and learning.

Established in 2011, the Ontario Council on Articulation and Transfer (ONCAT) plays a pivotal role in supporting learner mobility, working to reduce barriers for students seeking to transfer among the province's public colleges, universities, and Indigenous Institutes. ONCAT partners with postsecondary institutions to help establish academic pathways, facilitate recognition of prior learning, and support learners' transition into the labour market. ONCAT is funded by the Government of Ontario. To learn more, visit www.oncat.ca.

The Indigenous Institutes Consortium (IIC) represents the collective and collaborative efforts of its seven Indigenous-owned and operated education and training institutions across Ontario. Since 1994, the IIC has successfully raised the awareness and profiles of Member Indigenous institutions, learners, and communities. It was an instrumental mechanism in the establishment of Ontario's Indigenous Institutes Act, 2017. The IIC provides support to the Indigenous Institutes as directed by its Governance Circle and in compliance with the IIC three-year strategic plan and governance policies. The Member Institutes are built on the foundation of Indigenous ways of knowing and being. Institutes continue to be deeply committed to preserving and strengthening Indigenous languages, traditions, and culture, and play essential roles in the promotion of cultural learning and language acquisition. Lifelong learning is essential in supporting the needs of First Nations communities who mandate each of the Indigenous Institutes.

Welcome to eCampusOntario's

Technology and Education Seminar and Showcase (TESS)

This year's theme – Transforming Together – explores how digital transformation offers unique opportunities for the sector to work together to ensure the best outcomes for learners in a continually evolving future.

The Technology and Education Seminar and Showcase (TESS) Conference has been eCampusOntario's annual flagship event since 2015.

About eCampusOntario

eCampusOntario is a not-for-profit organization that accelerates the transformation of postsecondary digital learning in Ontario to increase participation in higher education. eCampusOntario leads a consortium of the province's publicly-assisted colleges, universities and Indigenous institutes to advance the development and adoption of online and digital learning technologies, programs and environments.

// Conference Tracks

Partnerships and Collaboration

How can collaboration support pedagogical innovation? Whether between postsecondary institutions or with industry, partnerships can be the kernel of important new ideas with amplified sector impact.

Dx Leaders

How have digital transformation (Dx) leaders been inspiring institutional and sector-wide change? Dx Leaders effect cultural shifts at institutions to make digital-first education a reality for the needs of future learners.

Future Focus

How can new technologies inspire changes to teaching and learning that through knowledge sharing and collaboration could have a systemic impact on the experience and accessibility of higher education?

New Visions for Digital Learning

How can new ways of learning advance postsecondary education? This track explores how different visions for education, such as Indigenous ways of knowing, experiential learning and holistic education, can influence and enrich digital first learning.

We look forward to collaborating with you to co-create a holistic education for learners to thrive in evolving social and work environments and empower them to shape a better future.

Keynotes

Dr. Jennifer Wemigwans, PhD

Associate Professor, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education and President at Invert Media

Jennifer Wemigwans is Anishinaabe (Ojibwe/ Potawotami) from the Wiikwemikoong Unceded Reserve. She is an Assistant Professor at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education at the University of Toronto, where she teaches in the Adult Education & Community Development Graduate program.

Dr. Wemigwans takes pride in working to invert the conventional use of media by revealing the potential for Indigenous cultural expression and Indigenous knowledge through new technologies, education and the arts. Her book A Digital Bundle: Protecting and Promoting Indigenous Knowledge Online (2018) explores the prospects of education and digital projects in a networked world.

Currently, her work develops new pathways for digital production with a focus on the convergence between Indigenous knowledge, the arts and education. This work supports the articulation of diverse Indigenous knowledge. Prior to joining UT, Wemigwans produced numerous resources in deep consultation with Indigenous knowledge keepers and elders from across Canada, the U.S., and Central and South America. She has earned a reputation for ethically translating Indigenous knowledge in ways that are consented and recognized by Elders and knowledge keepers. Her work in academia and online technologies puts her in a unique position to tap the pulse of innovation in Indigenous education, the arts, and media.

Dr. Rob Power

Assistant Professor, Education, Cape Breton University

Dr. Rob Power is an instructional design and educational technology innovator who was named winner of the Cape Breton University Instructional Leadership Award for 2021, and who has been nominated for the Atlantic Association of Universities Instructional Leadership Award and the Mt. Royal University Teaching Excellence in Lifelong Learning Award.

Rob's career has spanned over two decades in the K12 and higher education sectors, and he is currently an Assistant Professor with the School of Education and Health at Cape Breton University, and an Adjunct Professor with the Mitch and Leslie Frazer Faculty of Education at Ontario Tech University and the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences at Athabasca University. Rob is also a Past-President of the International Association for Mobile Learning (IAMLearn) and is currently President of the Canadian Network for Innovation in Education (CNIE|RCIE).

Transforming Indigenous Education Online

Reflecting Indigenous Knowledge online has the potential to transform education across Canada. In this talk, Dr Wemigwans explores how to ethically present Indigenous Knowledge online through the creation of Digital Bundles. FourDirectionsTeachings.com is an example of a Digital Bundle, an online site where Elders' Teachings from five distinct First Nations are presented. Digital Bundles represent a way to transform education by using new technologies to articulate Indigenous Teachings and introduce Canadians to Indigenous epistemologies.

Collaboration and Co-Creation to Transform Access to Learning

In this presentation, Canadian Network for Innovation in Education (CNIE) President, Dr. Rob Power, will discuss his recent experiences with the transformation of how educators and learners collaborate on the co-creation of digital learning spaces and resources. These experiences include his research and collaboration with higher education faculty and support teams to prepare educators to transform how they teach and the tools they use. Dr. Power will also discuss how he has collaborated with learners to transform how he leverages Open Educational Resources (OER) in the form of "OER as Pedagogy." He will highlight his latest initiative to leverage OER to reduce barriers to Accessibility, and to co-create an open resource focused on raising awareness of Digital Accessibility barriers and solutions across the Canadian education landscape.

Transforming Together

Dramatic changes in learner expectations and the emergence of digital options have created new and considerable challenges for Ontario's postsecondary sector. Every publicly-assisted institution in the province is working to meet the needs of learners at every stage of life while overcoming the pedagogical and technological pressures that come with system evolution. Most recently, added financial limitations have come to the fore, exacerbating these existing challenges and creating increased urgency for innovation – conditions which were encapsulated in the Blue Ribbon Panel Report released in November, 2023. In the context of this new reality, panelists Marketa Evans (CO), Marsha Johnson (IIC) and Robert Devries (COU) explore important insights on how digital transformation offers unique opportunities for the sector to work together to ensure the best outcomes for learners in this continually evolving future. Moderated by Blue Ribbon Panel member and eCampusOntario CEO Robert Luke.

Digital Transformation in Faculty Development and Generative AI: Agents of Change in Ontario Universities

This panel discussion will bring together insights from Digital transformation (DX) leaders across Ontario universities as we navigate the change necessary to successfully integrate what is arguably the most disruptive technological innovation in higher education since the Internet: generative AI. Colleagues with practical leadership experience in this domain will share their best practices and shareable resources related to support for instructors integrating generative AI for effective teaching and learning. Each panelist from the Ontario University Council on eLearning will share one critical strategy for success in preparing instructors to leverage generative AI effectively and one resource their institution has developed or leveraged that can be adapted or adopted by others. The focus will be on professional development initiatives and capacity building opportunities. Join us to hear a range of institutional perspectives from members of the Ontario University Council for eLearning (OUCeL) as we explore the intersection of generative AI, education, and digital transformation.

Moderator:

- Laurie Harrison, Director, Digital Learning Innovation, University of Toronto

Day 2 Featured Panel:

- Erin Aspenlieder, Special Advisor to the Provost on Generative AI, Office of the Provost and Vice-President (Academic), McMaster University
- Jordan Holmes, Senior Manager, Teaching, Learning and Technology, Centre for Teaching Support & Innovation, University of Toronto
- Nada Savicevic, Educational Developer, Clinical Faculty Development & Postgraduate Medical Education, School of Medicine, Toronto Metropolitan University
- Nick Baker, Director, Office of Open Learning, University of Windsor
- Patrick T. Maher, Professor, School of Physical and Health Education, Nipissing University

Understanding Our Past to Create Visions of Our Future presented by eCampusOntario

What can we learn from our past to help build our futures? In this presentation, join eCampusOntario's Research and Foresight Team as we explore the past for insight about possible futures of higher education. Sector transformation has happened most vividly in collective memory during 2020. Our agility was tested, and resilience shone through. eCampusOntario's new research has situated the resiliency and creativity of the sector at key moments in the past. Together, we will find the intersections between our past, present and futures. We have transformed before. How can we transform again?
